

The twelve poodle puppies were growing leaps and bounds,
Learning now to bark and growl and make other sounds.

*Following the act of the super duper skater,
Was a boy who claimed to be a poo investigator.
Born with such a big nose, which was long as well as wide,
So embarrassed, every night before he slept he cried.*

*Sadly, he'd not realized this big nose was a gift.
Responsible in every way for how well he sniffed!*

*Cautiously at photo shoots he never struck a profile,
But always he'd participate with his gorgeous smile.*

*Poodles, unlike reindeer, would never think to tease,
But all poos ran for cover should he feel the need to sneeze!
He was large and quite in charge, this bold and handsome fellow,
A bit offended by his bow, as it was brilliant yellow.*

