

*The twelve pretty poo pups now approached twelve weeks of age,
Which for poodle puppies is a most important stage.
Homes need to be selected which took major contemplation.
The perfect home would guarantee the perfect situation.
They'd not only choose their homes, as well their humans too.
Then they'd have their final names, and this I know you knew.*

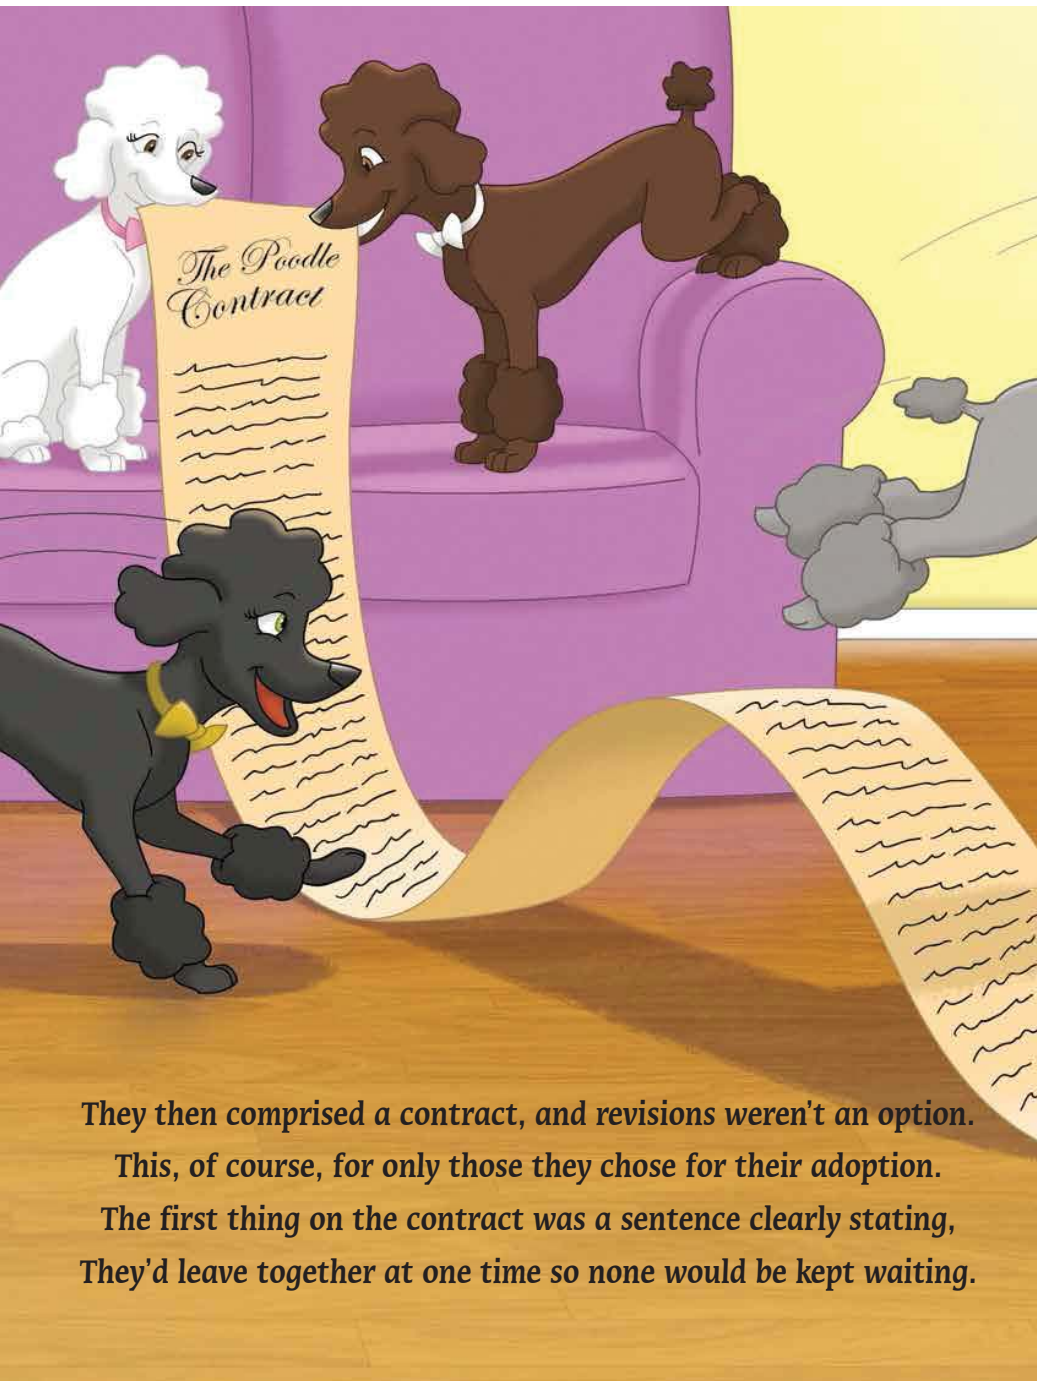

At twelve weeks old in dog years a poo is only two.
A scary time to move away, I'd be frightened, wouldn't you?

*In reviewing applications which were months ago submitted,
The ones that were not perfect, were quickly then omitted.*

*So many applications were so carefully reviewed,
Selecting those that best reflect a poodle attitude.
Rejecting those which standards lacked without a hesitation,
Because you know a poodle pup is quite an obligation.*

They then comprised a contract, and revisions weren't an option. This, of course, for only those they chose for their adoption. The first thing on the contract was a sentence clearly stating, They'd leave together at one time so none would be kept waiting.
